

Census 2020

Why is counting young children important?

Census
2020

Let's make sure Arizona's children have the services they need.

Newborn babies and children under five are often missed in the census. 2020 Census data will be used to help determine which areas qualify for the critical resources that children and families depend on. Examples include:

- > Food assistance
- > Head Start
- > Childcare
- > Housing support
- > Public schools
- > Early intervention services for children with special needs
- > Children's health insurance
